4. A sportsman must compete until his team achieves the highest victory.
5. A sportsman must always continue to expand the limits of capabilities.
6. A sportsman should get up if he falls. He must keep trying until he succeeds.

2. Management Strategy

(1) “VISION2030” and “Mid-Term Plan 2026” [Principle 3-1(i)]

In its “VISION2030”, ASICS keeps the founding philosophy of “A sound mind in a sound body” at its core and envisions to “create a world in which we can all live healthy both mentally and physically, maintaining involvement with exercise and sports over our entire lifetime”. In order to realize such vision, ASICS will further develop its business model and will provide various solutions to satisfy customers’ needs through the three business domains of (i) “Product” which are the current source of profit; (ii) “Facility and Community” to provide environments for sports; and (iii) “Analysis and Diagnosis,” soft services including provision of programs based on analysis and diagnosis utilizing data. ASICS plans to expand its businesses in all business domains under the common themes, “digital,” “personal,” and “sustainable.”

In November 2023, ASICS developed its “Mid-Term Plan 2026” a new three-year plan succeeding “Mid-Term Plan 2023.” In “Mid-Term Plan 2026”, ASICS will promote “Global x Digital,” further improve the brand value, and strengthen innovations to aim for sustainable growth. And to accomplish its plan, ASICS will pursue its key strategies to be “Global Growth”, “Enhancement of Brand Experience Value”, “Operational Excellence” and the “Reinforcement of Business Foundation”.

(i) “Global Growth”: ASICS will accelerate its sustainable growth of the already profitable businesses and further growth of fast growing regions by further reinforcing collaboration between each category and each region.

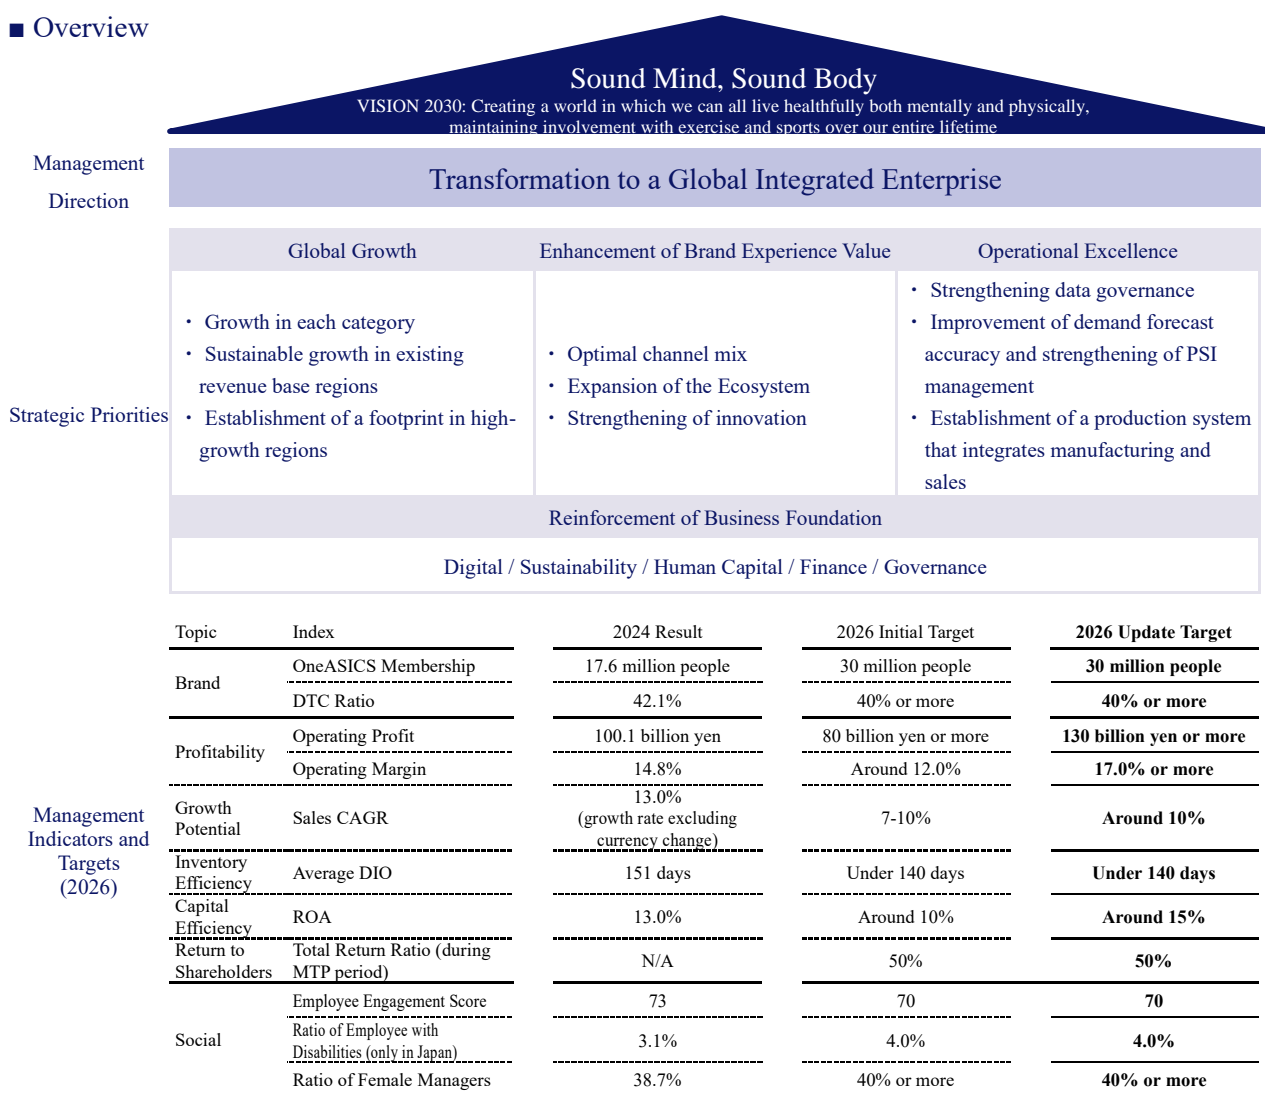

(ii) “Enhancement of Brand Experience Value”: ASICS will globally enhance the ASICS brand experience value including services other than goods, by expanding direct customer contacts and communication by enhancing DTC omni-channel retailing and the Ecosystem, in addition to continued enhancement of innovation.

(iii) “Operational Excellence”: ASICS will further improve its profitability by building manufacture-retail integrated systems through data governance enhancement and improvement of demand planning accuracy based on available data as well as supply chain reform.

(iv) “Reinforcement of Business Foundation”: ASICS will promote digitalization and sustainability, reinforce human capital investment, execute appropriate financial strategies, and reinforce its governance system.

ASICS revised upward the financial indicators in the “Mid-Term Plan 2026” as growth is accelerating toward achieving the industry’s No. 1 profitability, including the fact that the full-year forecast for 2024 exceeded the 2026 target that was initially set.

(2) Efforts on Sustainability [Supplementary Principle 3-1-3]

Since founding, our purpose has been to help people achieve a sound mind in a sound body. To do this, we need a sound Earth where people can exercise and enjoy sports in comfort. To make a positive impact on people and our earth for the next generation, our efforts focus on two pillars that reflect ASICS’s Sound Mind, Sound Body brand slogan: People and Planet.

① Contribution to people and society

ASICS aims to create a world where people all over the world will be involved in exercise and sports throughout their life and stay mentally and physically healthy. To achieve this, we endeavor to advance the mental and physical well-being of consumers through our products and services, and promote the mental and physical well-being of each employee. Furthermore, we also respect the human rights and contribute to the well-being of every person working in our supply chain.

Strong recognition from specialist institutions around the world

- Selected as a constituent of the “Dow Jones Sustainability Asia/Pacific Index,” a leading global ESG investment indicator, for 10 consecutive years
- In a survey conducted by the CDP, an international non-profit organization, we were certified as a “Climate Change A List” corporation, the highest level of recognition in the field of climate change, for the first time. (Rated “A-” in the previous fiscal year)

(i) Respect for human rights in the supply chain

In 2004, ASICS initiated audits of its supplier factories. Currently, out of the more than 200 Tier 1 supplier factories in more than 20 countries around the world, more than 99% of key factories now meet ASICS sustainability standards related to transparency of human rights and supply chain. Since 2022, with the aim of thoroughly ensuring responsible procurement and ensuring traceability and transparency, in addition to audits of new factories and main factories, we promoted efforts to ascertain actual conditions in more detail at low-risk factories, which were previously subject to comparatively fewer audits. While maintaining these standards, we will focus on introducing management systems that will be useful for the autonomous CSR management of factories.

(ii) “ASICS Human Rights Policy” and Human Rights Committee

A policy related to human rights is embedded in ASICS’ governance structure. In 2022, we formulated the new “ASICS Human Rights Policy,” following research based on collaboration with internal and external stakeholders. The policy sets forth elements of human rights due diligence and priority areas, and has been adopted at ASICS and ASICS Group companies. In addition, to continuously grasp and manage the situation around human rights, a Human Rights Committee has been established as a subcommittee below the Risk Management Committee with a view to building a governance framework that encompasses everything. Furthermore, a system has been put in place for reporting the activities of both committees to the Board of Directors.

In 2024, the Committee received reports on the status of monitoring of human rights risk related to international sports competitions and the status of our response.

(iii) Incorporation of ASICS Foundation, a General Incorporated Foundation

In order to realize our corporate philosophy “Anima Sana In Corpore Sano. (a sound mind in a sound body)” by creating “the world where people all over the world will be involved in exercise and sports throughout their life and stay mentally and physically healthy,” we believe that it is our mission to contribute to mental and physical health of more people by solving social issues relating to exercise and sports, not just to contribute to mental and physical health of people through its business of providing products and services, and it is with such belief that ASICS decided to incorporate the Foundation (scheduled to be incorporated in April 2025).

The Foundation will provide grants to organizations that provide support through exercise and sports to young people, individuals with disabilities, women, and others in social or economic hardships, and for the time being, provision of grants are planned in regions and countries where ASICS has overseas business and production bases (including Vietnam, Indonesia, and India), as well as in Japan.

Through the activities of the Foundation, which shares the vision of ASICS, we hope to increase corporate value of the ASICS Group by realizing a society where more people are enjoying exercise and sports and they are mentally and physically healthy.

Establishment of ASICS Foundation

The presence of both the Company and the Foundation enables us to deliver mental and physical health to a greater number of people.

We would like to realize ASICS' new value creation system together with you.

② Consideration for the environment

We have set an environmental target of achieving net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050. We also aim to reduce emissions by 63% at our offices and in the supply chain by 2030. We are the first sporting goods manufacturer to be certified by the Science Based Target (SBT) initiative. To achieve these targets, our efforts are focused on building a circular business model across the entire value chain.

(i) Climate Action

There is a close relationship between sports and climate change. To achieve a sound mind in a sound body, we need a sound Earth where people can exercise and enjoy sports in comfort. In order to protect this environment, ASICS positions our response to climate change as one of our most important management issues. In June 2019, ASICS became the first sporting goods manufacturer in the world to announce its support for the Climate-related Financial Disclosure Task Force (“TCFD”). ASICS discloses information on climate change-related risks and opportunities in accordance with the TCFD. ASICS considers sustainability to be an integral part of its management, and this is reflected in corporate governance. Regarding the governance structure for sustainability, the Board of Directors oversees climate change-related risks and opportunities, while the Risk Management Committee manages climate change-related risks, and the Sustainability Committee manages climate change-related opportunities, including the evaluation and management of progress toward CO₂ reduction targets. ASICS is working to convert our entire value chain into a circular business model with the aim of achieving net-zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050. Our business is supported by a global supply chain that includes outsourced production factories, and collaboration with each partner is essential. Accordingly, for our main suppliers, we have rolled out the “Green Procurement Policy” requiring the establishment of emissions goals to limit global warming to 1.5°C and the implementation of renewable energy.

As of the end of 2023, 80% of strategic Tier 1 supplier factories for footwear had established and disclosed targets, and 90% of factories had developed and are gradually implementing renewable energy procurement plans. We understand the current status and challenges of suppliers through ongoing dialogue, and we are providing them with the necessary support as we transition to a circular business model across the entire value chain.

Action 5 3 Regions Implementation of take-back programs to reuse or recycle products and materials.
	Action 6 Create innovation through partnerships.

*Target scope is “purchased goods and services” and “end-of-life treatment of the sold products.”

(ii) Start of sales of “NIMBUS MIRAI” recyclable running shoes

A notable feature of this product is that it maintains the same level of quality and performance as GEL-NIMBUS, one of ASICS’s representative high-performance models, while featuring recyclable materials through the use of a single material upper, etc. At the same time, we are also collecting used shoes, in order to enhance environmental awareness together with runners.

(iii) Product carbon footprint labeling

We indicate greenhouse gas emissions from material procurement to waste (carbon footprint) on our GEL-KAYANO 30 shoes, which have been released since 2023, and other products. Using calculation methodologies that have received third-party certification, we calculate figures by aggregating hundreds of data points and disclose the methods used for calculation. The introduction of carbon footprint labeling will allow us to improve transparency, gain deeper knowledge into greenhouse gas emission reductions and take action on climate change together with consumers.

(iv) Biodiversity measures

ASICS has a deep recognition of the importance of biodiversity and the impact that the apparel and footwear industries have on it. Based on this recognition, we work to develop products that reduce the dependence on natural capital. These efforts include utilizing recycled materials, adopting dyeing technologies that use less water, and the use of recycled paper. We will continuously assess the impact that our business activities have on ecosystems and natural capital, and aim to build a natural leather supply chain involving zero forest destruction by 2030 in collaboration with the Leather Working Group.

(3) HR Strategy (Investment in Human Capital) [Supplementary Principle 3-1-3] and Ensuring diversity within ASICS including promotion of women's participation [Supplementary Principle 2-4-1]

ASICS prioritizes each and every working employee embodying our brand slogan, "Sound Mind, Sound Body," derived from our founding philosophy, "Anima Sana In Corpore Sano (a sound mind in a sound body)." In addition, amid intensifying global competition, ASICS prioritizes "Organizational Diversity" in order to respond accurately to the diversifying market needs and to continue to create new business and added value. In Mid-Term Plan 2026, ASICS will make efforts from three viewpoints in order to "establish an environment where talented individuals with diverse backgrounds can fully utilize their abilities," and we are reinforcing our business foundation as we aim to transform into a Global Integrated Enterprise (GIE). In addition, to achieve this vision, we have split the former functions of the Human Resources Department into two, and newly established the Well-being Promotion Department. ASICS's human resource strategy is based on the concept of the brand slogan, "Sound Mind, Sound Body," and in order to strengthen our global competitiveness, we have adopted an approach that prioritizes the growth and diversity of employees. We have consolidated this strategy into the following three pillars.

① Realization of “Sound Mind, Sound Body” by employees

Challenges	Enhancing employee engagement and well-being to advance the sustainable growth of ASICS overall
Strategy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Achieve the industry’s highest-level compensation system ● Create a highly engaged workplace by promoting employee well-being ● Provide diverse working styles and growth opportunities utilizing digital technology

② Utilization of human resources globally and dynamically

Challenges	Discovering, nurturing and promoting the global talent needed for ASICS to transform into a Global Integrated Enterprise
Strategy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Nurture and utilize talent who can work globally from around the world ● Achieve the optimal number of personnel based on operational excellence ● Place talented individuals in suitable positions and achieve a personnel expense ratio of 13%

③ Diversity, equity and inclusion

Challenges	There is room for improvement in diversity, such as improving the ratio of women in executive and management positions, in order to produce new ideas and innovations through diverse perspectives and creativity
Strategy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Improve the ratio of women in management positions ● Promote the employment of people with disabilities and improve their work environment ● Realize a multinational executive composition

① Realize “Sound Mind, Sound Body” by employees

In order to achieve the brand slogan “Sound Mind, Sound Body,” through the day-to-day activities of all employees, we are focusing on enhancing the engagement and well-being of employees, and enhancing our compensation system.

(i) Strengthening well-being measures to support mental and physical health

In recent years, the importance of employee mental and physical health and work-life balance has increased. As a company, the development of an environment where each and every employee can feel happy while working also contributes to enhancing productivity and securing and retaining superior human resources.

In this regard, ASICS prioritizes the well-being of employees, and we have thus newly established the “Well-being Promotion Department” as a department dedicated to enhancing employee well-being. This department plans and executes various initiatives to enable employees to experience happiness through support for career development, DE&I, engagement enhancement, and other measures, as well as the management of mental and physical health among employees.

(ii) Initiatives for enhancing engagement

We believe that enhancing the engagement of each and every employee will be necessary to achieve VISION 2030, and we thus conducted a global engagement survey for all employees of the ASICS Group.

In response to the results of the previous engagement survey, we held face-to-face global meetings, and updated the survey questions to suit our current management strategy. As a result of our focus on the development of an environment to encourage frank opinion-sharing, including a video message from an Executive Officer, we collected responses from 92% of employees across the Group as a whole.

Based on the results of the survey in 2024, we have set forth a policy of further enhancing the “Purpose” and “Empowerment” domains, which are our global strengths, and at the same time, we have formulated action plans and begun initiatives aimed at improvement in the problematic domains of “Connection” and “Growth.” In addition to measures to address the aforementioned company-wide issues, leaders in each department will also take the initiative in setting and executing action plans, as part of our aim to enhance the engagement.

	Engagement survey response rate	Engagement score
2022	79%	66
2023	89%	68
2024	92%	73

(iii) Industry’s highest level compensation system

In order to achieve the industry’s highest level compensation system, we are revising our compensation system and compensation levels. With regard to the compensation system, in fiscal year 2024, we introduced profit-sharing bonuses (global) and a restricted share incentive plan through an employee stock ownership association (ASICS and ASICS Japan). We will aim to further increase enterprise value by ensuring that we return profits to employees as a company and encouraging employees to share value with shareholders and investors even further. We will also work to acquire and secure superior human resources by increasing starting salaries for new graduates and continuously raising wages.

②Utilize human resources globally and dynamically

With the aim of developing candidate successors for global top management and facilitating the self-directed growth and career development of each and every employee, we have globally developed systems related to hiring, training, allocation, assessment, and skill development in a horizontal manner.

(i) Development and utilization of human resources able to work globally across borders

We will globally assign the optimal human resources to the optimal posts to support us as a GIE based on business needs, not just within a single region, to provide opportunities for the active participation of human resources with various areas of expertise in each country. In order to strengthen investment in human capital, we will also focus on human resource development through job rotation, overseas assignments, and other measures aimed at facilitating various career paths at ASICS.

(ii) Introduction of various global development and exchange programs

ASICS is working to discover, nurture and promote talent who can work globally from around the world. As part of these efforts, the HR committee selected some employees as candidate successors for global top management and formulated individual development plans for them. We then developed their skills by running the ASICS Academy (a selection-based program to develop next-generation leaders) and implemented systematic job rotations. In particular, at the ASICS Academy, which is designed for management positions and higher, courses are held together with employees from outside Japan, with 22 employees participating over the past three years. In addition, we also offered employees within Japan opportunities for internal exchange with global employees, and held sessions that included non-Japanese members of top management.

ASICS Academy session

③Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

ASICS has declared its vision for the promotion of diversity, equity and inclusion (DE&I): One Team, Stronger Together. Promoting DE&I not only leads to the provision of better products and services that cater to the increasingly diverse needs of customers but also helps employees accept and take advantage of one another's differences while creating an environment in which each employee can experience their own value. We believe that ultimately, innovation will be encouraged within our organization, and it will contribute to the enhancement of enterprise value. In terms of specific initiatives, in addition to promoting a multinational officer composition, we are implementing measures as follows in order to achieve the Mid-Term Plan 2026's target of having at least 40% of management positions filled by women globally (25% at ASICS) and promote the employment of people with disabilities and improvement of their work environment.

(i) Increase the ratio of women in management

In order to increase this ratio, we have created action plans for each region, and the Global DE&I Steering Committee, which consists of managers with a diverse range of nationalities, genders, experiences, etc., is monitoring related progress.

(ii) Promotion of employment of individuals with a disability

Circumstances concerning the hiring of individuals with disabilities differ globally, such as whether or not there is a statutory employment rate. Accordingly, we promote the employment of individuals with disabilities in ways suited to each region, and in particular, in Japan, in order to meet the requirements of the changing statutory employment rate, we have prepared action plans for each region, and the Global DE&I Steering Committee monitors the rate in the same way as the ratio of women in management positions. In Japan, we created opportunities for all domestic ASICS Group employees to experience the appeal of parasports, such as volunteer activities or spectating at the events in the Kobe 2024 Para Athletics World Championships.

	Ratio of female managers (Global)	Employment rate of individuals with a disability (ASICS Corporation)
2026 target	40% or higher	4.0%
2023	38.1%	2.6%
2024	38.7%	3.1%

(3) Intellectual Property Strategy [Supplementary Principle 3-1-3]

As mentioned in ASICS' vision "Create Quality Lifestyle through Intelligent Sport Technology," technology is the source of competitive power of ASICS' businesses, and ASICS is working on its businesses utilizing the latest technologies so as to provide products and services with which people of the world can realize healthy and happy life.

ASICS does not just protect its technologies with strong patents, but it also elevates them into "intellectual technologies" and strategically attains and utilizes them as important tools that would strategically contribute to improve ASICS' corporate value. This encompasses business suggestions and management suggestions to ensure competitiveness in the aspect of intellectual properties through analysis of competitors' strategies using IP landscape, not only traditional protection of rights by obtaining patents, designs, and trademarks for products developed by ASICS.

ASICS continues to implement "Intellectual Property Management" integrating these intellectual properties and management.

To further promote this "Intellectual Property Management," ASICS plans to regularly discuss and incorporate into its management the intellectual strategies concerning the three themes of digital, personal, and sustainable raised in the Mid-Term Plan and each product category through "IP Strategy Committee," an advisory board directly controlled by President and composed of company-wide management executives (chief executives of each department). ASICS believes that the "ASICS" brand is the strongest intellectual property of ASICS above all else, and will continuously aim to strengthen its intellectual property strategies based on the recognition that implementing "Intellectual Property Management" will protect the brand and improve the brand value, and will strategically contribute to improve the corporate value.

3. Basic Ideas and Basic Policy on Corporate Governance [Principle 3-1 (ii)]

The Group has established the “Basic Policy on Corporate Governance” in accordance with the “ASICS SPIRIT” and “ASICS CSR Policy” to realize sustained improvement of corporate value at a global level.

For details of Basic Policy on Corporate Governance, please see ASICS’s website:

https://corp.asics.com/en/investor_relations/management_policy/corporate_governance

4. Roles and Responsibilities of the Board of Directors [Supplementary Principle 4-1-1]

The Board of Directors meets regularly to make decisions on statutory resolutions, important management policies of the ASICS Group, and certain matters related to the execution of important business operations, as well as to supervise the execution of business operations by the executive bodies (Representative Directors, Executive Officers, etc.).

In addition, the Board of Directors clearly sets forth the responsibilities of each Director, and the procedures for the performance of their duties in the Rules on the Segregation of Duties and the Limits of Authority or by the assigning of duties to Directors, etc. The Board of Directors also ensures that the executive bodies perform their duties.

The Executive Body holds regular meetings to deliberate important matters related to the management of the ASICS Group and to make flexible decisions. The Executive Body leads the pursuit of global growth, enhancement of brand experience value, and pursuit of operational excellence while promptly responding to management issues, etc. at the global level, and will drive ASICS’ transformation into a Global Integrated Enterprise.

5. Structure to Ensure the Effectiveness of the Board of Directors

(1) Expertise and experiences of Directors [Supplementary Principle 4-11-1]

We aim to achieve global sustainable growth and improve enterprise value while responding to the rapidly changing and increasingly diverse social environment through a global × digital approach as stated in Mid-Term Plan 2026. To accomplish this, it is important that, in addition to directors who are responsible for management decision-making and supervision, executive officers who are responsible for business execution also ensure a broad range of expertise, experience and diversity. On the diversity front, we acknowledge that there is still room for improvement. We will continue to actively promote the hiring of diverse talent to ensure better management decision-making and business execution.

ASICS also prepares a skill matrix that comprehensively shows experiences and expertise held by each Director when selecting Director candidates. Such matrix is disclosed in the notice of convocation of the General Meeting of Shareholders and Integrated Reports.

With respect to Outside Directors, ASICS has independently established the qualification standards and independence requirements in the “Selection Criteria for Independent Outside Directors” to ensure appropriate corporate governance, and candidates are nominated accordingly.

Note that two (2) of the five (5) Outside Directors have experiences of management in other companies.

(2) Evaluation of Effectiveness of Board of Directors [Supplementary Principle 4-11-3]

ASICS has established a PDCA cycle in which the effectiveness of the Board of Directors is analyzed and evaluated, the results of which are reported to the Board of Directors and thoroughly discussed, with the aim of further ensuring the effectiveness of the Board of Directors and improving its functions, and the results are addressed as areas for improvement in the following fiscal year. The evaluation of the effectiveness of the Board of Directors for FY2024 was conducted by a third-party organization, and the following evaluation was received.

- In FY2024, based on the results of the FY2023 evaluation, various measures were taken to “strengthen deliberations and progress reports on important discussion items” and “continue to strengthen the exchange of opinions between Outside Directors and Executive Officers,” etc., and it was confirmed that the effectiveness of the Board of Directors was secured and its functions improved, and the Board of Directors is functioning properly.

In addition, ASICS has established the Conflict of Interest Management Rules which determine the matters related to preventing overall acts that involve conflicts of interest, including interested transactions. ASICS strives to strengthen the system of preventing acts involving conflicts of interest that are performed by officers and employees.

9. Exhibition of Functions as the Corporate Pension Asset Owner [Principle 2-6]

ASICS has a defined contribution pension plan for the welfare of its employees. ASICS is not directly involved in management, etc. of corporate pension funds as the asset owner. However, to provide an environment allowing employees to form their assets stably, the department in charge of the corporate pension plan coordinates with the management company to maintain appropriate assortment of products and inform thereof, and also continuously provides training on asset management.

【Action to Implement Management that is Conscious of Cost of Capital and Stock Price】 【Updated date: March 31, 2025】

With regard to the cost of capital, ASICS endeavors to understand the expected values from the capital market of the time by actively discussing the cost of capital with investors, analysts, as well as the financial institutions, and develops management plans and business strategies and decides on various investment in light of the above.

In addition, ASICS has introduced a compensation plan that would make not only the officers but also the employees recognize the cost of capital and share price as his/her own business. ASICS has introduced “Global Profit Share System,” among other things, to reimburse to all officers and employees of the Group a part of its consolidated net income exceeding the cost of capital, and made sure that everyone understands the cost of capital and the scheme design. Moreover, to promote understanding of the cost of capital, a study session on the cost of capital was held for senior management, and a similar session was held in December 2024 for executives of business subsidiaries, including those overseas. Also, ASICS has introduced “Restricted Share Compensation System” for the officers and “Restricted Share Incentive Plan for Employee Share Ownership Plan” for a part of the employees. Through these plans, ASICS aims to provide not only the directors but also all employees of the Group with incentives to sustainably increase corporate value, and to promote further value sharing with our shareholders.

Furthermore, ASICS has set ROA as a management index, that enables all employees to participate in improvement activities at their respective positions. ROA has also been one of the main management index since the previous Mid-Term Plan (started in FY2021), and for each quarterly period, the actual results are disclosed after breaking down ROA by component. ASICS is aware that the capital market understands why ROA is emphasized an indicator for measuring capital efficiency, as the Company has a background of carefully and repeatedly explaining this to investors in addition to regular disclosures. The Company has improved ROA through company-wide measures that are integrated into the regular business cycle, such as improving profitability in our core business, tightly controlling SG&A expenses, and optimizing inventory and related working capital, and we are determined to continue to work tirelessly to do so.

In addition to these internal framings to promote awareness of the cost of capital, ASICS is endeavoring to reduce the cost of capital by being agile to pick up the topics of high interest to the capital market of the time and actively disseminating information on them to outside of ASICS in disclosure materials such as financial summaries. For example, detailed explanations are given with regard to a certain category or a region selected for each Quarter, and in Consolidated Financial Summary For the Fiscal Year Ended December 31, 2024, ASICS prepared presentation slides regarding “Background of Profitability Improvement for ASICS Japan,” a topic of high interest to the capital market, and explained in detail the background of profitability improvement for ASICS Japan and our future actions.

Also, ASICS disclosed in Consolidated Financial Summary For the Fiscal First Quarter Ended March 31, 2024 that it recognizes that the cost of capital is approximately 10% for this year, and aimed to reorganize shareholder structure by selling the shares to reduce such cost of capital. ASICS split shares on the record date of June 30, 2024, and offered the shares for sale after lowering the price per investment unit, so the number of individual investors significantly increased. ASICS believes that this will reduce the volatility of stock price fluctuations and will lead to a lower the cost of capital.

ASICS considers that the decision whether the shares of ASICS should be sold in response to a large-scale purchase, etc. of ASICS’s shares by a specific person or not should be in the end entrusted to the shareholders of ASICS.

Meanwhile, rooted in the good relationships built with stakeholders, including shareholders, customers, business partners and employees, ASICS and the Group considers its strength to be trust in its “technology,” “products,” and when making such judgment, ASICS shall take into consideration the opinions of outside professionals, etc. sufficiently assess and examine the provided Necessary Information, and give full respect to the recommendations of the Independent Committee. In addition, except in cases where it is extremely difficult to hold a General Meeting of Shareholders before taking countermeasures, the Board of Directors shall convene a General Meeting of Shareholders to confirm the will of shareholders with respect to such countermeasures. No countermeasures will be taken unless ASICS obtains the approval of a majority of the voting rights of the shareholders present at the above meeting to confirm “brand” cultivated over many years in business fields centered on sports, and believes its maintenance and promotion will contribute to ensuring and improving the corporate value and the common interests of the shareholders of ASICS. As a result, ASICS believes that it would be inappropriate for a person who controls the decision-making of financial and business policies of ASICS not to have sufficient information and understanding concerning these matters, since the corporate value and the common interests of the shareholders of ASICS that can be realized in the future may be damaged in such case.

Through these three themes, ASICS will develop each of the three business domains, which, when overlapped with each other, will create synergy, thereby maximizing their value. ASICS envisions to realize healthy and varied lifestyles by providing the value best suited to each of our customers from all perspectives.

Furthermore, targeting beyond 2020, in order to realize ASICS’ vision “Create Quality Lifestyle through Intelligent Sport Technology,” ASICS is promoting management reform to improve the mid-long term corporate value by setting new business fields “Training & Service” and “Health” in addition to the existing product field.
