Notice of Receiving 2025 Global Innovation Award from Nissan Motor Corporation

We are pleased to announce that YoroZu Corporation has been honored with the 2025 Nissan Global Innovation Award by Nissan Motor Corporation for outstanding technological capabilities and innovation.

The award was in recognition of our contribution to significantly reducing the body weight of the new INFINITI QX80 for the United States and the new Patrol for the Middle East. This weight reduction was achieved by adopting hot-rolled ultra-high-tensile-strength materials including 980 MPa-class steel for the body frame parts and also by increasing the torsional rigidity of the body frame itself making it 1.4 times stronger than before, both of which have only been possible by leveraging our unique forming technologies.

The honor is a testament to our capabilities in supplying parts that embody the culmination of our technological expertise and in developing parts with high forming difficulty within a short period of time.

This award reflects the high regard our main customers have for one of the key strategies outlined in our medium-term business plan: Development of new technologies that contribute to decarbonization and the creation of new value through collaboration. Our steadfast commitment to these initiatives has set us on a solid path toward achieving our performance goals.

We will further advance this lightweight technology to contribute to carbon neutrality in the automotive industry while providing solutions that maximize customer value, thereby enhancing our sustainable corporate value and boosting order receipts. As the “first-choice company” for all stakeholders, we are dedicated to accelerating our corporate growth.
