I Basic Views on Corporate Governance and Basic Information on Capital Structure, Corporate Attributes and Others

1. Basic Views

Oriental Land Co., Ltd. (“OLC”) will double down on enhancing its corporate value by acting on what it thinks it can do for its customers and society, in order to walk the walk on its fundamental mission of providing “dreams, moving experiences, happiness and contentment.”. OLC will double down on strengthening corporate governance, because it understands the importance of enhancing management transparency and fairness, achieving sustainable growth and development and fulfilling our social responsibilities. Specifically, we carry out the following initiatives:

- (1) Reinforce the internal control system; ensure a thorough compliance system; establish a risk control system; and enhance the information management system;
- (2) Reinforce management oversight functions by enhancing the auditing system through auditors’ audits and internal audits;
- (3) Increase management transparency through active information disclosure.

OLC is laser-focused on running its business operations with integrity and implementing the corporate ethics measures; in so doing OLC aims to increase its corporate value and win the plaudits from our shareholders and other stakeholders.

[\[Reason for Non-Implementation of the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code\]](#)

OLC has implemented every principle of the Corporate Governance Code.

[\[Disclosure Based on the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code\]](#)

[Principle 1-4] Cross-Shareholdings Policy

OLC regards building long-term and amicable relations with other relevant companies as of critical importance in terms of driving sustainable growth and making advances in the core Theme Park business. We make it a rule to hold cross-shareholdings in companies only if doing so would not only deepen our mutual ties but also enhance our corporate value. We will reduce cross-shareholdings when such objectives cannot be met over the medium- to long-term.

In order to size up the appropriateness, every year at the Board of Directors meetings, we carefully examine individual cross-shareholdings in terms of validity of purposes, and scrutinize whether or not the cost-benefit (asset value, dividends, transactions, etc.) and the holding risk is commensurate with the capital cost. As a result, we have concluded that none of our holdings is unreasonable.

When exercising voting rights on listed shares, OLC shall make judgments on each proposal from the following perspectives:

- (1) Will the proposal enhance the corporate value of the investment target over the medium- to long-term and lead to greater shareholder return?
- (2) Are there any major violations of laws or regulations, anti-social acts, scandals, or other inappropriate activities by the investment target?

- (3) Has the investment target been underperforming for a long time?
- (4) Is there a possibility that the proposal will harm the common interests of shareholders?

[Principle 1-7] Related Party Transactions

Every year OLC conducts a written survey of its directors, corporate auditors and corporate officers to determine if there are any transactions that may fall within the purview of related party transactions. Any transactions that fall within a purview of conflict-of-interest transactions or competing transactions must obtain the approval of the Board of Directors. If such transactions are conducted, the parties concerned shall disclose the material facts thereof.

[Supplemental Principle 2-4 (1)] Retention of Diversified Mid-Level Human Resources

OLC makes no discrimination whatsoever based on gender, nationality, etc. in terms of recruitment and treatment, so that OLC can fully tap into the talents of people of diverse backgrounds. We don't have any quantitative threshold for hiring women or foreigners. Admittedly, the ratio of women in managerial positions to the total number of women employees is low; hence, we regard this asymmetry as a problem to be addressed and will double down on resolving this issue by setting a quantitative goal.

<<Reference: Women Manager Information>>

2027 KPI: 25%

Actual Status as of March 31, 2025: 16.8%

In terms of creating the value of the Theme Park business, human resources are no less indispensable to the OLC Group than its investment in hard infrastructure. When it comes to running the Tokyo Disney Resort, the human interactions are the name of the game. Our human resources, per se, are the source of strength. Employees of diverse backgrounds have actively been engaged in day-to-day business operations of the OLC Group. Going forward, it is getting more and more important to tap into diverse sense of values in order to do justice to the diversity of our customers, which is to be aligned with our ESG objectives, too. We will double down on enhancing workplace environment as well as implementing growth opportunities for our human capital by doing the following: implement and support growth opportunity for our employees; promote work-life balance such as childrearing.

[Principle 2-6] Roles as Asset Owner of Corporate Pension

To hone its investment management expertise and to efficiently perform its expected roles as an asset owner and/or corporate investor, OLC doubles down on enhancing human resources by installing some investment officers in charge of the Accounting Division and the Personnel Division. At the same time, OLC will enhance their professional skills and knowledge by providing them with advanced training on asset management. In practice, the Pension Asset Management Committee sets a target investment yield and monitors its performance. It outsources the selection of individual investment targets and the exercise of voting rights to an external investment firm in order to prevent any conflicts of interest.

[Principle 3-1] Transparency and Fairness in Information Disclosure

In order to ensure transparency and fairness in its decision-making and to achieve its effective corporate governance, OLC doubles down on disseminating information by disclosing the following matters:

- (1) Our vision (business philosophy, etc.), management strategies and management plans

We disclose our corporate philosophy, management strategies and management plans on our website (<https://www.olc.co.jp/en/index.html>).

- (2) Basic views and basic policy on corporate governance

We disclose our basic views and basic policy on corporate governance on our website

(<https://www.olc.co.jp/en/index.html>).

(3) Policy and procedures for the Board of Directors for determining the remuneration of senior management and directors

Directors are compensated in cash and stock. The amount of compensation is determined by the Nomination/Remuneration Committee, which has been entrusted by the Board of Directors; and must not exceed the limit decided at the General Meeting of Shareholders. Compensation is decided based on how well each member of senior management and each director has performed in terms of management and individual goals; and how much they have contributed to the management of OLC. This system is designed to provide a sound incentive for driving sustainable growth.

(4) Policy and procedures for the Board of Directors to appoint or dismiss any member of the senior management and to nominate candidates for director and corporate auditor

[Policy] The OLC nominates candidates for directors who will help to continuously improve corporate value based on a comprehensive evaluation of each person's performance, ability, personality, insight, and other factors. The representative director and executive directors (including the CEO and COO) are selected on the basis of whether the person has abundant business experience and profound knowledge of corporate management, whether the person has a track record of sound, long-term, managerial decision-making and successful business execution that will contribute to the continuous improvement of future corporate value, and whether the person will honestly fulfill assigned duties and responsibilities while complying with laws and corporate ethics. With regard to candidates for corporate auditor, the OLC nominates a candidate based on a comprehensive evaluation of each person's performance, ability, personality, insight, and other factors and on the basis of the person's ability to contribute to the establishment of a good system of corporate governance, the ability to engage in constructive discussions and dialogues with the Board of Directors and senior management to ensure management transparency, and the ability to ensure independence from executives and to maintain a fair and unbiased attitude. If directors, members of senior management or corporate auditors deviate from the above standards or are deemed to have otherwise significantly impaired the OLC's corporate value, we will take the following dismissal procedures.

[Procedures] A proposal for the appointment or dismissal of a director or corporate auditor or the selection or dismissal of a representative director or executive director is deliberated by the Nomination/Remuneration Committee, an advisory body to the Board of Directors, before a decision is made by the Board of Directors. In appointing a corporate auditor, the consent of the Board of Corporate Auditors shall be obtained before submitting a proposal for appointment to the General Meeting of Shareholders.

(5) For the description of individual appointment, dismissal and nomination upon appointing and dismissing members of the senior management and nominating candidates for director and corporate auditor, please refer to the attached table of this report concerning the appointments.

[Supplementary Principle 3-1 (3)] Disclosure Policy of Sustainability

OLC showed its approbation for TCFD in April 2022 and has made a disclosure concerning its efforts towards sustainability as well as the disclosure as per TCFD suggestions on our website (<https://www.olc.co.jp/>). Further, OLC has disclosed its updates concerning its investments, such as human capital investment, in the Fact Book, Integrated Report, Sustainability Report, etc.

[Supplementary Principle 4-1 (1)] Scope of Delegation of Responsibilities to Management

The Board of Directors makes judgments and decisions on matters stipulated by law and internal rules (Rules of Administrative Authority).

Furthermore, to promote timely and appropriate decision-making, OLC has established the Management Council so as to decide on important matters concerning the execution of duties delegated by the Board of Directors (excluding matters to be resolved by the Board of Directors under the Rules of Administrative Authority).

[Principle 4-9] Criteria for Independence of Independent External Directors

In order to ensure independence, OLC's independent external directors are subject to the following criteria:

1. They are not ,or were not over the past ten years, an executive of OLC or any of the consolidated subsidiaries of OLC (hereinafter, the "OLC Group").
2. None of the following (1) to (6) shall apply to them with respect to the past three years:
 - (1) A shareholder that holds 10% or more of the voting rights of OLC; or an executive thereof;
 - (2) A major lender to the OLC Group; or an executive thereof;
 - (3) A vendor whose business with OLC per fiscal year exceeds 2% of the consolidated sales of either OLC or such a vendor; or an executive thereof;
 - (4) A lawyer, a certified public accountant or any other consultant who receives cash of more than 10 million yen or other assets from the OLC Group apart from a compensation in the form of directors' remuneration;
 - (5) An independent auditor of the OLC Group, or a person who belongs to such independent auditor; or
 - (6) A person or an organization that receives a donation of more than 10 million yen from the OLC Group; or an executive of such an organization.
3. They are not a close relative (spouse or blood relative within two degrees of kinship) of a board director, corporate auditor or corporate officer of the OLC Group.
4. There should not be any matters that may cause a material conflict of interest when they execute their professional duties as an independent external director, nor should there be any of their personal interests in OLC that may affect their judgment.
5. If the aforementioned condition (2) should apply to a person, OLC may still nominate the person as a candidate for an independent external director who OLC thinks has got sufficient independence in view of their knowledge and capabilities, on condition that OLC explains why it has concluded that the person in question is fit to serve as an independent external director.

[Supplementary Principle 4-10 (1)] Optional Nomination/Remuneration Committee

We have set up an optional Nomination/Remuneration Committee, a majority of which is comprised of independent external directors, as an advisory body to the Board of Directors. This committee is comprised of Toshio Kagami (Representative Director and Chairman of the Board of Directors) , as a chairman, Yumiko Takano (Representative Director, Chairman, and CEO), Independent External Directors of Tsutomu Hanada, Yuzaburo Motegi, and Misao Kikuchi and the independence of the committee is ensured. The Nomination/Remuneration Committee is allowed to provide advice as requested by the Board of Directors and is, purview-wise, tasked with the following: prepare a draft of the basic policy regarding the nomination and remuneration of directors and corporate auditors; prepare proposals concerning the nomination of directors and remuneration for the General Meeting of Shareholders; prepare a draft of the selection and dismissal of representative directors and executive directors; deliberate on the succession plan; and report to the Board. The Nomination/Remuneration Committee, which is entrusted by the Board, is authorized to decide the amount of remuneration within the range that has been determined at the General Meeting of Shareholders.

[Supplementary Principle 4-11 (1)] Structure of Board of Directors

OLC's Board of Directors has stipulated in the Articles of Incorporation that the appropriate size of the Board of Directors, which is capable of quick and appropriate decision-making, should be not more than 15 — which is based on their thinking.

OLC's Board of Directors has consciously emphasized diversity in terms of representation, within the acceptable range, by embracing female directors and independent external executive directors; in so doing, it has doubled down on creating a well-balanced Board (in terms of knowledge, experience, and competency required to effectively perform its roles and obligations).

Regarding the nominations of the directors, it is our policy to nominate those who have had a superb track record in terms of leadership, knowledge and experience in various fields; candidates are thoroughly scrutinized for these attributes.

Regarding the skill matrix of our Board of Directors, please refer to the Invitation Notice of the General Meeting of Shareholders.

[Supplementary Principle 4-11 (2)] Disclosure of Co-responsibility of Directors and Corporate Auditors

Some directors and corporate auditors of OLC concurrently serve as an executive of another listed company; however the number of such executives is within a reasonable range. Moreover, OLC discloses the updates concerning the aforementioned matter in the notice of the General Meeting of Shareholders.

[Supplementary Principle 4-11 (3)] Analysis and Evaluation on the Effectiveness of the Board of Directors

Every fiscal year, OLC's Board of Directors analyzes and evaluates the effectiveness of the Board of Directors as a whole, using the results of the evaluation sheets distributed to and collected from each director and corporate auditor as part of the evaluation material. For the 2024 fiscal year, as in the preceding fiscal year, these evaluation sheets were subject to aggregation and analyzed using a support service provided by an external organization. Each director and corporate auditor personally evaluated and gathered opinions on the operations of the Board of Directors, discussions undertaken thereby, and initiatives carried out by internal directors, outside directors, and other personnel, which were revealed through comprehensive evaluations to be generally appropriate and sufficient.

The results of the evaluation for the Board of Directors by each director and corporate auditor in the preceding fiscal year have indicated that the operation method, details of discussions, efforts each member has made, etc. are generally appropriate and sufficient. Having deliberated on the effectiveness of the Board, the Board of Directors have concluded that it is being run appropriately and that its effectiveness has been ensured.

Going forward, we will make necessary improvements in order to ensure the effectiveness of the Board of Directors and to further enliven it.

[Supplementary Principle 4-14 (2)] Policy on Training for Directors and Corporate Auditors

In order for directors and corporate auditors to appropriately fulfill their expected roles and responsibilities, OLC offers the training program upon their appointment. In addition to this, OLC not only offers them various training programs but also backs them financially so that they can acquire and update their knowledge and expertise; thus, OLC holds in-house study meetings and arranges for educational programs offered by outside institutions. As far as external directors and external corporate auditors are concerned, OLC provides them with learning opportunities in order for them to get more savvy about the OLC's business operations; therefore, OLC invites them on a study tour at its headquarters, the Parks, etc. on a regular basis.

[Principle 5-1] Policy on Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders

We have established and disseminated the Disclosure Policy, a policy concerning adequate, timely and fair disclosure. By making a transparent disclosure in accordance with the Policy, we will seek to develop mutual understanding and trust with our stakeholders and get the dialogue going, which is one of our management credos.

[Implementation status of dialogue with shareholders, etc.]

OLC has been actively engaged in various IR Activities to facilitate constructive dialogue with shareholders and investors inside and outside of Japan, etc., aiming at the sustainable growth of the OLC Group and the enhancement of its corporate value over the medium- to long-term. Please refer to the following statement: 2 (IR Activities) in III (Implementation of Measures for Shareholders and Other Stakeholders) for the specific contents of activity status and the implementation status of the 2024 fiscal year, etc. regarding IR.

Furthermore, OLC has been working on the sustainable growth and the enhancement of the corporate value over the medium- to long-term by providing opinions/issues which we have acknowledged through dialogue with shareholders and investors, etc. in a form of feedback, to the management and the Board of Directors and reflecting them in a timely fashion into our management strategies and financial/capital strategies, etc. The details of the IR Activities we conduct are made public on OLC's Integrated Report (published every fiscal year). Incentive Policy for Directors: Introduction of a performance-linked remuneration scheme/Other

Supplementary Information

A performance-linked remuneration scheme and Board Benefit Trust-Restricted Stock (BBT-RS) program were introduced in fiscal year 2024 as remuneration schemes for Directors (Excluding External Directors).

Performance-linked remuneration scheme

Performance-linked remuneration is paid in cash on an annual basis in accordance with the extent to which performance indicators for performance-linked remuneration prescribed in advance are attained each fiscal year. Performance indicators are the financial targets set forth in the long-term management strategy, the medium-term plan or equivalent medium- to long-term plans and performance-linked remuneration varies within a range of 0% to 150% with 100% corresponding to standard attainment. Performance-linked remuneration for Directors is set to account for between 10% and 30% of the total amount of remuneration Directors are paid, depending on position and title and based on the assumption that there has been a standard attainment of performance indicators. The general meeting of shareholders in June 1999 resolved that the total amount of monetary remuneration for a Director shall be no greater than 80 million yen per month; the sum of performance-linked remuneration and any fixed amounts of monetary remuneration shall not be paid in excess of this limit.

Board Benefit Trust-Restricted Stock (BBT-RS)

This is a stock compensation program under which Company stock is acquired through a trust funded by money contributed by the Company and under which Company stock and money equivalent to the amount obtained by converting Company stock at market value are paid to Directors through the trust in accordance with the Regulations Governing Share Benefits for Officers. In principle, Directors receive Company stock at a given time each year and receive money equivalent to the amount obtained by converting Company stock at market value when they retire from the Company. A Director receiving Company stock during the term of office shall conclude a restricted transfer agreement with the Company prior to receiving such benefits and shall be restricted from disposing of such stock by way of transfer or other means until retirement.

Policy for Determining Remuneration Amounts and Calculation Methods Thereof: Established

Supplementary Information

Taking into consideration various factors (such as degree of accomplishment of management objectives; individual degree of accomplishment of their own objectives; individual degree of contribution to OLC; and others), the Nomination/Remuneration Committee, which is entrusted by the Board of Directors, determines the remuneration of the directors in such a way as to give them a sound incentive for working towards the sustainable growth of OLC. The total amount of remuneration—that is resolved at the General Meeting of Shareholders—is capped; remuneration is paid from that money pool in the form of money and stock on a regular basis. However, external directors are compensated in cash only.

2. Matters on Functions of Business Execution, Auditing, Supervision, Nomination and Remuneration Decisions

Business Execution

OLC has introduced a corporate officer system to develop a more robust group management control system and to ensure corporate governance—with a view to keeping abreast of the changes in the environment surrounding its business. This clarifies the supervisory and executive responsibilities in each business of the Group and enables directors to focus on supervision, thereby bolstering the management's supervisory functions and encouraging the delegation of the task of business execution to corporate officers, which is designed to expedite the decision-making process. A Board of Directors meeting is held once a month, in principle and is attended by all corporate auditors (both standing and non-standing). The directors and corporate auditors, who have different duties, check the management of OLC from their respective perspectives. The directors carry out deliberations in accordance with the basic policies of management while ensuring that there are no breaches of laws and the Articles of Incorporation. Furthermore, to promote timely and appropriate decision-making, OLC has established the Management Council—chaired by the CEO—which decides and reports on important matters concerning the execution of duties delegated by the Board of Directors (excluding matters to be resolved by the Board of Directors as per the Rules of Administrative Authority). The Management Council comprises full-time directors and corporate officers and is held twice a month, in principle. Standing corporate auditors can also attend the Management Council and express their opinions, which the Chairman of the Board of Directors may attend depending on the topic of discussion as well. Furthermore, OLC has also established an optional Nomination/Remuneration Committee, a majority of which is comprised of independent external directors, as an advisory body to the Board of Directors. OLC has nine directors (seven males, two females), five of whom are external directors; further, OLC has seventeen (17) corporate officers who do not concurrently serve as directors (sixteen male officers, one female officer).

Audit, Supervision

OLC has adopted a corporate auditor system. In order to understand the important decision-making process and the status of the execution of duties, its two standing corporate auditors attend the following meetings, where they express what they have to say: Board of Directors; the Management Council; Risk Management Committee; Compliance Committee; and other important meetings and committees.

The Board of Corporate Auditors holds a meeting once a month, in principle, on a regular basis. At these meetings, standing auditors brief non-standing auditors on the following: the updates on the Management Council and other important meetings; the implementation status of audits on subsidiaries and the results thereof. In so doing, they exchange opinions and have discussions.

Three of the four corporate auditors of OLC are external corporate auditors; therefore, by embracing their objective and independent opinions, we have established an effective audit system.

Furthermore, in order to enhance the effectiveness of auditors' audits and to facilitate the smooth execution of audit duties, OLC has established the Corporate Auditors Office, which operates independently of the directives and orders of Directors and other officers, and staffed it with a view to providing corporate auditors with assistance. OLC has also formulated the Policy for Reporting to Auditors, which stipulates the following: matters that executives and employees have to report to corporate auditors; the timing and procedures for such report. Added to this, they shall report in a timely fashion.

In order to further comply with laws and internal regulations and to ensure the effective execution of duties, OLC has, as a way of supplementing audits conducted by corporate auditors, established the Internal Audit Department as an internal auditing body, which is independent of the executive arm of OLC. Internal audits are conducted from an objective standpoint to implement risk-based investigations, evaluations, and to provide advice on whether the Company's operations are being conducted appropriately and efficiently in accordance with laws and regulations (including the internal control reporting system), as well as our management policy, management plan, and internal rules to ensure the trustworthiness of Financial Reporting, improve management efficiency and profitability, and otherwise contribute to the long-term sustainable growth of the Company. An internal audit of OLC is conducted under internal audit policies/plans approved by the Board of Directors, and the audit director will report the audit results directly to the President of OLC and also to the Board of Directors and the Board of Corporate Auditors as part of the dual reporting line system. In addition, the continuous improvement and substantial fulfillment of the internal control has been making by that the result of the internal audit shall be reported to the Risk Management Committee and/or the Compliance Committee, or other concerned organization depending on objects to be audited, also that any issue will be directly brought up and the measures to improve such issue will be proposed. The corporate auditors, accounting auditors, and the internal audit department hold tripartite or bilateral meetings and exchange information and opinions from time to time in order to get on the same page with respect to any issues at hand; in so doing, we conduct audits in a coordinated fashion. To ensure accounting accuracy, KPMG AZSA LLC audits OLC. Our designated limited liability and engagement partners from KPMG AZSA LLC are the following certified public accountants: Noriaki Habuto and Ryoma Dodo. Additionally, a total of 26 accountants and assistants engage in other accounting and auditing activities.

Overview of Liability Limitation Agreement

OLC has entered into an agreement with its external directors and external corporate auditors to limit their liability for damages as outlined under paragraph 1, Article 423 of the Companies Act, pursuant to paragraph 1, Article 427 of the Act, and the provision of the Articles of Incorporation. The maximum amount of liability under the agreement is the minimum liability amount stipulated by paragraph 1, Article 425 of the Companies Act.

3. Reasons for Adopting the Current Corporate Governance System

Our thinking is based on the following premises: tapping into opinions from the outside—the nine directors including the five external directors that comprise the Board of Directors—will ensure fairness in corporate management; utilizing savvy advice from those on the board who have had broad experience and a wide knowledge will lead to appropriate decision-making; the effective accounting regime based upon collaboration among the three—the corporate auditors, accounting auditors, and the internal audit department—will vouch for legitimate, appropriate supervision, which is stated in the aforementioned paragraph. It is for these reasons that we have adopted the current system.

a. Internal Rules, etc. Stipulating Due Respect for Stakeholders

In order to deliver our corporate mission, OLC and the OLC Group have instituted the OLC Group Compliance Code of Conduct as specific principles and rules which we should abide by, compliance-wise. Furthermore, we have instituted the Business Guidelines: specific guidelines for the standards of conduct—which is aimed to enhance moral standards, or sense of ethics, of executives and employees; in so doing we can act on compliance. The aforementioned code of conduct stipulates to ensure the safety of our guests, customers, or employees, respect the human rights of people concerned with business activities, realize fair transactions, strict management and appropriate use of information and asset, solve environmental issues, coexist with society, moreover, sets forth to emphasize direct communication with stakeholders and to accept opinions, requests, or others from such stakeholders with humility and to bring out the best of them in the business as well.

b. Implementation of Environmental Activities, CSR Activities, etc.

Our business mission is : “Create happiness and contentment by offering wonderful dreams and moving experiences created with original, imaginative ideas.” Incidentally, OLC is confronted with a sea change (i.e., climate change, a declining birthrate and an aging population, etc). It is in this backdrop that the OLC Group has determined to pursue sustainability management—which has integrated our responses to global environmental problems, social issues, etc. into management and business strategy—in order for us to deliver results to society and continue to grow far into the future—50 to 100 years from now—as a corporation. The sustainability management that we aspire after is two-pronged: “contribute to a sustainable society”; and “realize our sustainable growth”. In order to do so, we will enhance our existing businesses; launch new businesses; accelerate ESG objectives; and contribute to SDGs. We have redefined “Our Goal for 2035” as “Bringing more ‘Happiness’ to you and the community”, which will empower us to translate sustainability management into reality and to continuously create happiness—our core corporate value to accelerate its objectives for the future. We will aspire to become a company capable of creating happiness for our stakeholders and society.

In order to accomplish “Our Goal for 2035,” we have reshaped our “eight ESG Materialities” into these “seven ESG Materialities” to capture opportunities for growth and reduce risks:

- Employee happiness: To remain a company that employees can be truly proud of, we will improve job satisfaction (the sense of accomplishment gained from work) and the working environment (internal environment and systems) so that employees can feel joy in their work and continue to create new value.
- Children's happiness: To realize a prosperous future for business and society, we will nurture the dreams and hearts of children who will shape the future.
- Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion: We will implement initiatives that respect human rights and the diversity of employees and customers to maintain an environment where everyone can work and enjoy themselves as their true selves.
- Supply chain management: We will realize a sustainable supply chain through such initiatives as strengthening engagement with business partners and sustainable procurement of raw materials.

- Climate change and natural disasters: With the aim of net-zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050, we will enhance the sustainability of business and society by working to mitigate and adapt to climate changes and conserving biodiversity, including through the appropriate management of water resources.
- Recycling society: We will reduce the environmental impact of society by reducing the amount of resources used, improving recycling rates through improved waste sorting, and reducing its volume, and by doing so, we will realize our unique resource-recycling business model.
- Strengthening management foundations: We will continue to adequately comply with corporate governance codes as required by various laws and regulations, as well as society, and develop a system that can foster human resources who will lead the next generation and continue to enhance corporate values.

c. Development of Policies on Information Provision to Stakeholders

We abide by the following laws and regulations: disclosure rules concerning the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act; the timely disclosure rule set forth by the Tokyo Stock Exchange. Further, if any event that has a material effect on investment in OLC should occur, we will not only double down on collecting and analyzing data but will also disclose the relevant information. In order to put into practice the dialogue-oriented management, which embodies one of the core building blocks of the business philosophy of the OLC Group, which is highly transparent, thereby building trust and mutual understanding with stakeholders. Furthermore, we will make the most of the opinions and evaluations obtained from our stakeholders in our future business management by feeding them back to management on a regular basis.

In order to do so, we have implemented the following policies: we ascertain whether or not the vendors have any relations with anti-social forces by doing credibility check on them, an important benchmark we use for evaluation; we mandate the vendors to categorically state that they neither belong to nor have any relations with anti-social forces when they enter into any agreement with us. If there's any evidence to the contrary, we shall be authorized to immediately terminate the transaction relationship concerned.
